

Dear _____,

This holiday season, I plan to relax from all the _____ craziness of my daily grind with a few days of relaxation in the company of friends and family.

Sure, having loved ones around is great and all, but what would the holidays be without _____ and _____ to smooth over the rough patches of my crash from _____? And it makes getting along with my relatives so much easier, too!

I hope you and those you love attain the same holiday spirit and happiness as me.
